LBJ Budget Points to a Defense Cut

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The budget President Johnson will soon submit offers business men two cross currents to assess.

1. By pledging that the next fiscal year's deficit can be cut to half of this year's estimated red ink—$10 billion—the President apparently has increased chances of getting a tax cut out of the Senate reasonably soon.

2. By financing new or expanded welfare projects largely through cuts in existing or planned defense spending, the President is speeding the day many businessmen have been wondering about. That's when the economy will be asked to adjust to a drop in defense spending, which has been increasing fairly steadily for the last 10 years.

If Congress passes the long-debated tax cut, business can plan on saving some tax money itself and on finding potential customers with more money of their own to spend. Business saving could go into expanded activities or larger dividends. Or even a price cut or two? Greater spending by consumers would boost the economy all along the line.

And also, if the President's arithmetic holds up in the fiscal year starting July 1, and government spending exceeds anticipated tax receipts by only about $5 billion, inflationary aspects of the new budget will be only half that which businessmen had been preparing to take into consideration.

Any opposition to the budget proposals may first develop in the area of cutbacks in defense spending. The plans call for

Shrine's Pilgrimage Is Sunday

The pilgrimage to the Shrine hospital at Shreveport will be made this Sunday, according to H. M. Olsen, Millwood Shrine Club president.

Cars will leave the lodge hall at 8 a.m., arriving in Shreveport at 10, with Shrine members attending Presbyterian church services in a body. They will eat at Morrison's and then visit the hospital from 1 to 2 p.m. A police escort will take them out of town.

Shrine members are asked to invite a Master Mason, or a member of either Rite, and his lady, to be your guest.

W. Helena and NLR Get Grants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two federal agencies announced plans to provide money to two Arkansas cities Thursday.

The Public Housing Administration approved a $1,989,179 loan to West Helena, Ark., for construction of 150 low-rent homes.

The Urban Renewal Administration advanced $84,977 to North Little Rock, Ark., for that city's first urban renewal project—the North Tennessee Project, which will require an additional $291,283 in federal funds for completion.

ICC Head Finds Rails 'Healthy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission took a long look at the nation's railroad industry today and declared the patient healthy and sound.

"They'll never be obsolete—no, sir," declared Abe McGreggor Goff, 64, Idaho Republican who assumed the chair of the 11-man commission Jan. 1.

"The railroads have had a tremendous increase in long-haul traffic," Goff said in an interview. "I won't make any specific predictions about the future, but all of our railroads are in much healthier shape than they were last year at this time."

Why, then, if the industry is so healthy, have so many mergers been consummated or proposed?

"Why, that's simple," Goff said. "Seventy-five years ago, when all the railroads were laid out, they didn't lay them out in a pattern designed for modern conditions. They had no way of knowing what this country would look like today. So now there have to be some adjustments made."

Goff had a ready answer when asked whether he has a philosophy about railroad mergers.

"Of course I do," he said. "If they're in the public interest, I favor them. If they're bad, I'm against them."

Will Work to Retain Ft. Chaffee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arkansas' congressional delegation and Mayor Bob Brookshier of Fort Smith were to map plans at a meeting today for keeping Ft. Chaffee open.

The Defense Department has announced that the fort near Fort Smith, is one of more than 20 military installations due to be closed or curtailed in an economy drive.

Brookshier, who has been in Washington since Wednesday, has met with Pentagon officials and with Rep. J. W. Trimble, D-Ark.

Top Harper of Fort Smith, was named Democratic National Committeeman from Arkansas, was expected to attend today's meeting.

Pilkinton May Run for Governor

HOPE, Ark. (AP) — Like many others, James H. Pilkinton, an attorney at Hope, said he might run for governor if Gov. Orval E. Faubus did not.

Pilkinton, former 6th District Chancellor, said he was being urged by people from throughout the state. Friends are paying for a poll to determine his chances, he said—regardless of whether Faubus runs again.

He has a high regard for Faubus, though, and probably would not oppose him, even if the poll shows he could beat the governor, Pilkinton said.

Results of the poll will not be made public, he said.

Lieutenant governor interests him, too, Pilkinton said, but he added that he is on "good terms" with Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon and does not know what Gordon plans to do.

In 1957 Pilkinton announced for governor but withdrew after the Little Rock Central High School racial incident and Faubus said he would seek term No. 3.

He is hesitant to run for political office unless he is sure of winning, Pilkinton said, because he would not like to leave a good law practice.

The lieutenant governorship would not force him to give up the practice, he said.

He resigned as chancellor in 1961 to return to his private practice.

Scranton to Play Down Candidacy

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania said today he is attempting to discourage any efforts to project him as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Asked at his weekly news conference what efforts he has made to discourage his development as a presidential prospect, Scranton said:

"Well, in the first place, I have discouraged anybody that I know of who is attempting to create clubs or anything of that sort. As you know, I have no political speaking engagements at all except for Jan. 29 at Indianapolis when many of the leaders of the party are speaking."

Scranton has consistently maintained he is not seeking the GOP nomination. He said there was no political significance in his plans to go to Washington later today for a dinner meeting with the Pennsylvania Republican congressional delegation and an appearance at a reception of the Republican National Committee. He said the congressional dinner had been scheduled for some time.

Since the death of President Kennedy, Scranton has been mentioned more frequently as a candidate and his stock appears to have boomed. He has said he would accept a sincere draft.

Here's View of Warfare in Year 1975

By HOWARD BENEDET

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The year is 1975. Several U.S. spaceships the size of house trailers circle the globe in an orbital pattern which keeps the entire earth under constant surveillance.

Each has a four-man crew. Two fly the craft and monitor instruments while the other two rest.

Suddenly, the captain of one ship spots scores of missiles blasting from a hostile country. He flashes an alert to the other ships. Those within range aim detection equipment at the missiles and determine within seconds that they are headed for the United States.

The spaceships, maneuvering at 18,000 miles an hour, launch deadly antimissile rockets at the enemy projectiles, destroying most before they've expanded their booster fuel. Other ships in the American patrol obliterate many of the warheads during the midcourse portion of their journey. And U.S. ground defenses wipe out many more.

Special attack spacecraft in the United States orbiting force unleash nuclear weapons on the enemy nation.

Can manned satellites effectively carry out military missions of this type?

The Air Force long has said yes and has struggled for a military role in space. Last month the service won its argument and was assigned the multimillion-dollar task of developing a manned orbiting laboratory—known as MOL—to learn just what the military can do while orbiting 150 to 300 miles above the earth—the area considered vital for war operations.

As envisioned, the early MOLs will consist of a modified version of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's two-man Gemini capsule attached to a huge canister 25 feet long and 10 feet in diameter.

The Titan 3, now under development, will be the booster rocket. During the launching phase, the two-to-four-man astronaut teams will ride in the Gemini vehicle. Once orbit is achieved, they will transfer to the pressurized canister, where they will remove their space suits and operate in a shirt-sleeve environment.

After three or four weeks aloft, the astronauts will don space suits, slip back into the Gemini capsule and return to earth, leaving the canister in orbit.

In announcing the MOL decision on Dec. 10, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said the first manned flight of the complete vehicle is expected late in 1967 or early 1968 after a number of unmanned launchings have qualified the equipment.

McNamara stressed the project is "an insurance program" to prepare the United States to launch manned space warships if the need should arise.

This High School Teacher Runs His Classroom With a Single Book — the Bible

By BILL HUDSON
PADUCAH Ky. (AP)—Marvin Montgomery is proud that nine-tenths of his high school pupils are regular churchgoers.

Montgomery teaches an unusual course in history. His only textbook is the Bible.

For 19 years, juniors and seniors at Paducah Tilghman High have studied the Bible as historical literature.

The Paducah Association of Churches foots the bill — $40 a year per student. The course is elective but can count among the 18 credits required for graduation.

It became part of the curriculum long before there was any Supreme Court ruling against required Bible reading or devotionals in public schools or governing the release of students during school hours to be trained in religious faith.

"It's something that kind of grew up traditionally," said Dr. Newman Walker, Paducah school superintendent.

Montgomery is an ordained minister. He teaches the classes daily at an off-campus site. The course—"there's nothing denominational about it"—covers the

Patmos Story Is Largely the Story of a Pioneer Physician — T. A. McLarty

By MARY ANITA LASETER

One of the first five doctors of Hope was the late Dr. T. A. McLarty, grandfather of Tom and James McLarty. He first came to Arkansas from Georgia in 1869. When his son, Lon, was a year old, the family returned to Georgia but came back to Arkansas in 1885.

The family lived at Patmos before Hope had developed much, and for the Centennial Edition of the Hope Star in 1936, Lon McLarty, now deceased, recalled some of the history of the southern Hempstead County town with the biblical name.

Rider & Johnson had the first sawmill there, and after Buchanan brought the L. & A. railroad from Stamps on to Hope, Ad Thomas put in a mill also at Patmos. Several stores were there at one time, including one kept by a Mr. Ward and the drugstore of Bob Mayton's.

Early settlers at Patmos were the Riders, Johnsons, Coopers, McLartys, and others. Mr. McLarty could not pinpoint. He remembered that there were only three brick buildings in Hope when he first came here. One was known as the D. C. Hicks house and stood on the corner where United Dollar Store is now. (It's doubtful that any early picture of Hope does not contain this well-known building in the background.)

Lon McLarty was well-known in Hope as well as Patmos, and for many years he was seen outside his little furniture store on West 3rd Street. Interested in Politics, a trader, and at one time a square dance caller, Mr. McLarty recalled a square dance to the tune of "Arkansas Traveler."

It goes like this:
Honor your partner on the left
Swing corners
Swing your partner and promenade.
First couple to the right
Four hands up.
Ladies Do-Ci-Do
And the gents ought to know
Next couple follow on around.
Swing corners
Swing your partner and promenade.
Right hand to your partner
Swing corners left handed
Right hand back to your partner
Grand right and left.
Meet your partner and swing corners
All promenade
Everybody dance!
Then
Then Ladies to their seats and
Gents to the jug!

Editor The Star: It was most refreshing and encouraging to read about your stand against the useless spending of federal money.

It is so unusual that you are very apt to be branded a "lunatic" or "non-progressive." The very shock of such an unheard-of attitude may bring you success.

I also read with interest the fact that Hope had refused federal paving aid. Little by little federal assistance has dulled the people's spirit of independence and pride in doing things for themselves in their own communities.

I am sure you are aware of the plan "little by little" to eliminate communities in favor of regions; and the method is to bring these communities under federal obligation by federal aid to this and federal aid to that.

Fortunately you have a newspaper through which to speak and, I trust, enough of your fellow citizens to back you up—if they can withstand the pressure of the so-called prosperity through federal spending of their own tax dollars after they have been processed and sent back to them less 75%.

I sincerely wish you success.

U.S. Begins Peace Talks on Panama

By LUIS NOLI

PANAMA (AP) — President Johnson's special envoys began a peacemaking effort today following Panama's angry decision to break relations with the United States and scrap the 61-year-old Panama Canal Treaty.

A U.S. assistant secretary of state, Thomas C. Mann, and Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance met for an hour and a half Friday night with Panama's President Roberto Chari.

Even as they conferred at the presidential palace, a new flare-up occurred along the tense Canal Zone frontier. The Panamanian government charged that U.S. troops again opened fire, although apparently no civilians were hit. Six Panamanians were injured by flying glass.

No further violence was reported.

The two days of anti-U.S. disorders have resulted in the deaths of 17 Panamanians and three U.S. soldiers and in injuries to hundreds. The rioting erupted Thursday night after a fight between U.S. and Panamanian students over flag rights in the Canal Zone. Behind the inflammatory flag issue is the broader question of sovereignty over the canal.

At an emergency meeting of the U.N. Security Council Friday night, Panama demanded that the United States relinquish control of the canal. Panama's delegate, Aquilino Boyd, said the canal should be either nationalized or placed under international jurisdiction.

As news of the dispute echoed around the world and brought new Communist denunciations of the United States, the Organization of American States dispatched its own peace mission to Panama.

In Washington, Johnson telephoned Chari in an effort to calm passions as the new administration faced its first major international crisis since taking office six weeks ago.

During the telephone talk, Chari agreed to meet with Mann and Vance, and the two men left immediately by jet for Panama.

Chari followed up Thursday night's recall of the Panamanian ambassador to Washington with a complete break in diplomatic relations with the United States.

Charging "unmerciful acts of aggression" by U.S. troops against Panama's civilian population, Chari's government said only a U.S. promise to revise the canal treaty could bring a restoration of relations.

The 1903 treaty gives the United States perpetual control over the 10-mile-strip across Panama but Panamanians have long insisted they own the land.

After bloody rioting in November 1959, resulting from an attempt by Panamanian students to plant their flag in the Canal Zone, President Dwight D. Eisenhower said the United States had recognized Panama's titular sovereignty for a half century. He ordered the U.S. and Panamanian flags raised side by side at the edge of the Canal Panamanian flag flown whenever the Stars and Stripes is raised in the Canal Zone.

Then came this week's explosion. U.S. students at the Canal Zone's Balboa High School defiantly raised an American flag, and brawled with Panamanian students attempting to raise their own banner in front of the school.

The Panamanians charged their flag had been defiled. When word of the incident spread across the country of little more than one million persons, the violence began.

State Trooper John Westmoreland said Schmidt was in the road trying to flag southbound traffic after the lights on his car had failed.

Westmoreland said the car that struck Schmidt was driven by Donald W. Miller of Judsonia.

Sex Appeal Obvious in High Fashion

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Eggs, heads, politics, sailors and "My Fair Lady" — these incongruous make up the spring wardrobes of fashion-conscious women.

If anything at all related to the fashion Press Week previews Wednesday it was sex appeal.

California designer Rudi Gernreich, the avant-garde of American fashion, first spelled it out in Chinese, with droop-shouldered, kimono-like dresses and tunics.

But he also showed an inaccurately named wallflower dress with deep arm holes and an indefinite shape like an amoeba.

Very often the Lyndon B. Johnson influence showed up — that's the new name for the cowboy look, important since the Texan moved into the White House. Silk low-belted shifts sported scarves tied sideways or backward. But instead of a ten-gallon hat, each jaunty model wore a pint-sized white fedora.

Those who expect kookie things from the West Coast designer who promises topless ladies bathing suits within five years were justified by Gernreich's ruffled polka-dotted clown dress and pajamas, purple and orange brocade jump suit for formal dinners, and an exaggerated white trench coat over white tight pants, with cocky cap to match.

Cecil Chapman, queen of the draped shape, returned to her throne this season with voluptuous chignon and matte jersey numbers right out of the "My Fair Lady" musical.

This year Miss Chapman was a sidewinder — with tucks, draping, panels and revealing slits winding up on the same side.

Egghead scientists and the sailors came into the fashion picture with the Pellon show featuring as yet unknown designers. Some found design inspiration from the white lab coats of researchers, while still others found style in the mid-century suit, made giddy with lace or militant with gold braid.

Looks Sweet But Really She's Tough

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Don't let Yvette Mimieux' wispy manner fool you. Behind those limpid eyes lies a whim of iron. Her agents found that out this week when she fired them.

Her studio will soon be discovering it as she asks for a new deal. Interviewers inevitably encounter it when they ask her about personal matters.

Yvette is now shopping for agents, and the new team will have the assignment of adjusting her contract with MGM. It has only two more years to run, but the winsome blonde yearns to be free earlier from the studio's exclusive control.

"Last year MGM presented me with six different scripts, and all of them were fantastic," she commented. "I couldn't possibly do them, and I told the studio so. As far as I can see, there is nothing out there for me in the future. So why shouldn't I be free to take some of the attractive possibilities that come along on the outside."

With an eye to her future freedom, she is incorporating herself and plans to buy story properties which she could play. She closing some plants making atomic fuel and some military installations dubbed obsolete, and also apparently for cutting back orders for some military hardware.

Even if all the cutbacks are approved by Congress, which has been critical of such proposals in the past, the military budget next fiscal year is still estimated to be around $51 billion, or more than half of the proposed total.

As a prop to today's economy it will remain strong.

As a foreshadow of further cutbacks to come, it will furnish industry as well as government a challenge.

Most business thinking today is that such cutbacks will be gradual, allowing individual companies and communities needed time to adjust.

Most businessmen applaud any aiming at frugality in Washington, even when they suspect the final results may fall short of the aims. So they welcome the President's surprise budget. Their reservations concern how the details will be worked out.

Dog Food Saves Lives Lost Couple

WATSON LAKE, Y. T. (AP) — Six pounds of dog food, scrounged from an empty trapper's cabin, helped sustain a Yukon Territory couple through 30 days of hunger, pain and exhaustion while lost in bush country east of Watson Lake.

William Alexander McDiarmid, 43, a trapper, and his wife, Maggie, 25, were reported in good condition Tuesday night after being flown here.

They left their cabin on Larsen Lake Dec. 5 to snowshoe to Smith River, 60 miles away. After a few days of blizzards and deep snow, they were lost.

"By that time my feet were frozen up to the knees," McDiarmid said. "We knew our way back but weren't sure how much further we had to go."

"My nose kept bleeding; Maggie was fine."

"We had macaroni on Christmas Day. I had a sardine sandwich and Maggie had some canned sausage."

"Our New Year's dinner was macaroni and canned sardines. Our food ran out and we ate moss and snow. We found six pounds of dog food in a cabin and ate that."

Bush pilot Bob Harrison, who was supposed to meet the couple at their cabin door, notified the Mounted Police. The Mounties sent a plane out New Year's day without success and Harrison flew over the area the next day.

"While flying over the snow, I suddenly saw snowshoe tracks and I followed them," Harrison said. "I saw a fire and a figure waving a blanket."

A ground party arrived the next day and fed the couple hamburger and stew.

had despaired of getting MGM to do the same. She discovered the novel "Lilith" and sent copies to all the studio bigwigs. Nothing happened. Robert Rosen snapped it up and made it for Columbia.

Yvette's last two films have been for other companies — "Diamond Head" and "Toys in the Attic." But she did return to the parent lot for surprise — a television show.

DOROTHY DIX

READERS EXPRESS THEIR VIEWS

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: I cannot resist giving you my reaction to "Neglected Wife and Mother" who still broods about her family's oversight of her on Mother's Day. I know from my own experience with my family that a mother can be generous, unselfish and loving — always going out of her way to do big and little favors, yet be woefully neglected by husband and children. I've gone without things to help mine. They take gladly but seldom show any gratitude. I too was neglected and lonely on Mother's Day, my birthday and even on some Christmas holidays.

I was able to control the hurt but thank God, I have a forgiving nature and given time, can reason myself out of it. For I do know that my husband and children, now grown and married, love an respect me. We can't all be everlastingly thoughtful. Understandably they are busy with their own problems.

So, to forget me on one of my special days is of small matter to them. They don't realize that a wife and mother treasures these tangible evidences of their love and devotion. It isn't the size of the gift nor how costly that matters. To me any small token of their love would have been sufficient.

My daughters are the most lax. Even when they send cards they arrive a day or so late. And as "Neglected" said, you do feel at a loss before your friends who show with pride the beautiful and wonderful gifts that their children remembered them with. You say, "Don't make a mountain out of a mole hill" or succumb to self-pity but it isn't always easy to be noble.

My situation is caused by my daughters' entirely different natures, much the opposite of my own. In looks they resemble me but their minds and character have been inherited from another branch of the family.

I inherit my generous, gift-giving impulses from my wonderful, loving 89-year-old mother who has brought comfort and happiness to many beside her immediate family. And believe me, none of us who are her daughters ever fail to show our love and gratitude. Thanks for letting me say my piece. — Neglected The Second

Dear Helen: In a recent column you published a letter from a single woman in which she said independence, freedom and doing as she pleased with money she earned more than compensate for not being married. She advised other women to remain single. I second the motion.

While not being rich or having a salaried position, I work every day without pay for love of it and rejoice in my freedom to do so. I had many a chance to marry but felt it wasn't right to take more than I could give, having promised my parents to stay with them till the end of their days. They raised a family, all of whom but me have married and left them. Now they do nothing but sit at home and complain of each other and everybody else. Too many enter the holy state of matrimony without thought of the vows they take before man and God. Married or single, life is what you make it. I'd rather be wise than sorry, or make others sorry. True love is selfless. I gave my man my blessing and stayed at home. — Considering All Angles

Dear Helen: I have just read your incredible reply to a wretched woman who, at the age of 52, is being thrown over by her husband for a younger woman. You advise her to stick to this man because "men and women need each other."

Why don't you take the unmarried women who want to go into a convent or remain single, out to a home for mental defectives or the criminally insane and try to persuade them to marry the men in these places because "men and women need each other?"

They could hardly suffer more than this 52-year-old woman has already suffered from her husband. Have you ever heard of Florence Nightingale, Dorothea Dix, or Jane Addams? How about encouraging women to emulate them? Their lives though single are an inspiration and a blessing. —Mrs. Robert T. Brown, Baltimore

Dear Mrs. Brown: This is the second letter I received from you. Since both were written on the same day I must have touched a sore spot. If so, I'm sorry. Nevertheless, I cannot agree with you that the state of the single woman is more blessed than that of her married sisters. Florence Nightingale, Dorothea Dix (who should not be confused with my Dorothy Dix) and Jane Addams were great, not because they were single but because they had it in themselves to be great. I could name just as many — or more — married women equally noble in character.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Peggy opened the door of her husband's study without bothering to knock.

"Is it true," she asked crisply, "that your court-martial has been postponed again?"

Benedict's face darkened as he reached for a letter from Colonel Hamilton. "The enemy's maneuvers in the field make it impossible for the board of inquiry to meet at the present time," he read. "At the request of General Washington, I beg to inform you, sir, that the necessary hearings will have to wait until the current campaign has ended and the army moves into winter quarters."

"Dropping the letter onto his desk, he stared at it bleakly. "This is the fourth postponement!"

"They promised me an early trial, but it appears I can't take anyone's word, not even Washington's," he said harshly.

Peggy sat in an armchair opposite his desk and smoothed her skirt. "Are you going to swallow the insult?"

"I'd resign my commission today if we didn't need my salary. No one wants to do business with me since this accused court-martial was announced. All of my sources of ready money have dried up."

He glanced down at the ledger. She tapped a high-heeled slipper on the hardwood floor. "Have you considered other possible sources of income?"

"I've thought of little else this past week." He stood before her, his fists clenched. "For four and one-half years, ever since I first suggested the attack on Fort Ticonderoga, the civilian politicians who are the curse of America have made my life miserable. The legislature in Hartford tried to rob me of glory and the Continental Congress refused to grant me any promotion or my seniority until my exploits shamed them into it. To this day they owe me more than $50,000."

"I suppose it's true that Washington's army is larger these days, and I hear Patriots

U.S. Report Will Accuse Cigarettes

By W. JOYNES MACFARLAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government report on smoking and health to be made public Saturday is expected to point an accusing finger at cigarettes as a health hazard.

Unlike a 1959 report which dealt only with smoking and lung cancer, the new report prepared by a special committee of 10 non-government scientists will deal with all the effects of smoking on human health — on the lungs, heart, and circulatory system.

The conclusions will be based on scientific findings which in the main have been publicized previously.

Surgeon General Luther L. Terry will hold a news conference to state the Public Health Service's position on the report, in the works 14 months.

Terry, who appointed the committee members, also is expected to outline plans for a second phase of the study — to be concerned with recommendations for action.

When the 1959 report was issued Leroy E. Burney, then the surgeon general, said in a statement: "Unless the use of tobacco can be made safe, the individual person's risk of lung cancer can best be reduced by the elimination of smoking."

Further, Burney said the weight of evidence implicated smoking — particularly cigarette smoking — as the principal causative factor in the increased incidence of lung cancer.

The tobacco industry claims, however, that a causative connection between smoking and impaired health has not been proved.

In a report released Thursday, the nation's tobacco companies claimed the vast majority of smokers suffer no serious impairments of health or shortening of life.

A Health Service spokesman said the new government report will be mailed to every physician and osteopath in the country. It also will be sent to all governors, state health officials, and to officials of other interested organizations.

The committee was asked to study not only the impact of smoking on health but also other factors that may be involved, such as air pollution and automobile exhausts.

Alford to Give Medicare Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former U.S. Rep. Dale Alford of Little Rock is to testify Jan. 24 before the House Ways and Means Committee about his plan for medical care.

The plan would permit individuals to deduct the cost of hospitalization and medical insurance from income taxes. Alford has given no other details.

Such premiums now are deductible if a taxpayer's other medical expenses total more than three per cent of his income.

Alford contends the Kennedy plan, which the committee is to consider, is inadequate and inequitable.

"I suffered at Saratoga was a blessing in disguise," he said. "Until I was crippled, I had no time to think. But now that I've had ample opportunity, I realize I was blindly following my first impulses. Everyone in New Haven felt as I did when we heard the news of Lexington and Concord."

Peggy wisely kept silent. "You realize," he said hoarsely, "that we'd be taking a great risk."

She nodded. "If we should be caught, the penalty is death."

"For you, darling, not for me," she replied softly. "That is why it would be unfair of me to urge you to do anything against your will."

President to Speak at AP Meeting

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson will speak at the annual Associated Press meeting April 20.

Paul Miller, president of the AP, said Thursday he had received confirmation from the White House of Johnson's appearance. The invitation had been extended some time ago for the President to address the annual luncheon gathering of the cooperative news gathering association.

The last president to appear at the meeting was Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The AP meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel usually draws more than 1,200 American newspaper publishers and their wives.

Radio and television representatives and presidents of the networks attend the meeting. A number of foreign publishers and executives of foreign news services also are planning to attend the 1964 meetings.

The AP luncheon is an opening attraction of New York's annual Newspaper Week each spring. It is followed by the convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Single Word Delays JFK Memorial

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — A single word is now the only hurdle for sponsors of a bill to build a national cultural center in memory of John F. Kennedy.

That word appears in the bill passed by the House Wednesday night over Republican opposition. The word is "sole."

The House bill authorizes $31 million for the project and designates the center as the sole national memorial to Kennedy in the Washington area. The Senate, when it passed the bill, omitted the word "sole" because it did not want to bind the hands of future Congresses.

The Senate now must decide whether to accept the House version of the bill or to meet in conference committee with House members to iron out a compromise.

No trouble is expected, and, once the bill clears Congress, the signature of President Johnson is assured.

The national cultural center — which would be renamed the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts — had long been a prime project of President and Mrs. Kennedy. Trustees of the center were in the midst of a fund-raising campaign when he was killed.

If the bill is passed, trustees hope to start construction of the center by mid-1964. The center would have a theater, concert hall, and auditorium for plays, opera, ballet, concerts and films.

New Agency Offered to End Poverty

WASHINGTON (AP) — A farm leader urged today that a new federal agency be created with broad lending powers to spearhead a drive to end poverty in rural America.

Clyde T. Ellis, general manager of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, and a former Arkansas legislator, proposed such an agency in a talk prepared for the northeast resources development meeting.

The agency would be called the Rural Cooperatives Administration and would be located in the Agriculture Department. It would have authority and funds to make loans for promotion of job-making activities in rural areas.

"It often happens that many activities which are not considered sufficiently profitable for established concerns to undertake must be performed on a non-profit basis either by the government or by the people themselves through cooperatives," he said.

He said the problems of rural poverty had been largely overlooked in the past as the country concentrated on programs to eliminate city slums and other poverty conditions in urban areas.

Ellis said the new agency would help develop appropriate industries and businesses in rural America, as well as develop the recreational potential of rural areas.

Southwest Employment Sets Record

were allowed the freedom to judge for themselves some of the government's spending. These very new large post offices as a rule do not even belong to the government — just private owners who receive a rent way out of line with the towns they serve. One would think each cross-road would need any more a post office, what with the roads being kept up and motor transport.

Why can't the young folks be interested? It would seem the debts being made can not be paid in the next two generations. It hardly seems fair to those being born or not yet born, to saddle them with money spent now. Not only that but — why? Where will this lead to? What is this ground for?

Editor The Star: Your story (AP) was carried in the Tulsa Tribune under the caption "Let's Kill the P.O." It attracted my attention particularly when I saw the dateline, Hope, Arkansas.

I want to commend you and the other economy-minded citizens of Hope for taking a stand against unnecessary government spending. This must stop somewhere. There is no better way to curb this unnecessary expenditure than to unite together and refuse it when it is really not needed.

As I remember the post office building there in Hope, it was in a good state of repair and could well serve the community for another 25 years.

It would be interesting to know if the press picks up the rest of this story, and gives to the readers of the nation the outcome of your stand.

I posted in Hope from 1945 to 1951.

Washington's Blair House has been maintained as an official residence for visiting dignitaries since 1942.

farm employment in the Southwest set a new record last November with 4,576,300 persons holding jobs.

Regionally, total employment was virtually unchanged between October and November, however.

Net reductions, largely seasonal, of 3,500 jobs in Arkansas and 1,500 in Oklahoma barely overbalanced increases of 2,900 in Louisiana and 1,800 in Texas.

Manufacturing employment continued its record-shattering upturn, which began in March, 1963. More than 1,200 workers were reported on the job in November than the month before.

Nondurable goods industries, paced the advance and substantial gains were recorded in the food industry.

The average work week in Arkansas during November was 40.5 hours, compared to 39.6 the same month a year ago; the average hourly earnings $1.76 compared to $1.68 in 1962 and the average weekly earnings $71.28, compared to $66.53.

Legion Gives $15,000 for Child Aid

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The American Legion's Child Welfare Foundation will present a $15,000 check to the University of Arkansas Medical School Friday for research in virus disorders affecting children's respiratory systems.

Dr. Garland Murphy Jr. of El Dorado, national vice commander of the Legion, will present the check to university president Dr. David W. Mullins at a banquet during the annual convention of the organization's Southern Area Child Welfare Conference and affiliated groups.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus will be principal speaker at the banquet, to be attended by some 200 persons from Arkansas and 12 other southern states.

Murphy is a director of the Child Welfare Foundation. The Child Welfare Conference begins Thursday and ends Saturday.

Uclans Big Surprise, Poll's No. 1
By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

UCLA and Texas Western are the biggest surprises of the college basketball season, no win its midseason calm, while Arizona State and New York University are the biggest disappointments.

The Uclans and Texas Western were rated high in preseason forecasts, but no one expected that they would be so prominent by this date. The Uclans now are No. 1 in The Associated Press poll with a 11-0 record while Texas Western boasts a 15-1 mark including 14 in a row, the longest current major winning streak.

In contrast the NYU Violets and the Arizona State Sun Devils, rated second and sixth in the AP preseason poll, have lost four and six games, respectively, and no longer are in the Top Ten. What happened? No one seems to know.

UCLA, sparked by Walt Hazzard, encounters a strong Big Six rival tonight in Southern California. To date the Uclans have whipped Brigham Young, Butler, Kansas State, Kansas, Baylor, Creighton, Yale, Michigan, Illinois and Washington State twice.

Big 6-foot-8 Jim Barnes is Texas Western's star. The Border Bandits beat North Texas in their opening game, then lost to Washington 57-49. Since then they have defeated Wichita, Tarleton, Long Beach, San Jose, Centenary, Tennessee Tech, Mary, Clemson, Denver, Western New Mexico, Arizona State and West Texas. They won't play again until Jan. 25.

Wake Forest beat North Carolina 80-71, West Virginia nipped VMI 75-73 and Texas Tech downed Baylor 82-62 on Thursday night's slim program. None of the Top Ten teams saw action.

In other games Boston University edged Connecticut 55-53, Rhode Island took Holy Cross 80-77, Tulsa defeated North Texas 91-72, New Orleans Loyola whipped Memphis State 90-64, Virginia Tech upended Furman 75-65 and Florida socked Miami of Florida 114-91.

At Malvern Tonight Is Tough Test
By Carter Hardage
Hope Star Sportswriter

Tonight the Bobcats journey to Malvern for one of the toughest matches of the year. The Leopards, defending 4AA champions and again top pick in pre-season polls, are the team to beat.

Thus far Malvern have been mighty tough on their opposition. They have scored over 100 points against some teams.

Their leading scorers, 6'6" Stanford, and 6'2" Stanfield, have averaged 45 points per game between them so far. They have a starting average of 6'2".

The Cats' game will precede by the Junior game. It will begin at 6:30. Why not follow the Cats and lend them the support they deserve?

"Mr. Celler," Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., said to Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the Judiciary Committee, "there is a rumor around you want to get a rule to send H.R. 7152 to the floor."

That remark started an estimated two weeks of hearings at which 10 or more hostile witnesses are expected to take their best shots at the bill before the committee clears it for a House vote.

Celler's committee took most of last year to fashion the 10-part bill, which deals with racial discrimination in voting, education, employment, places serving the public and federal-

Celler cited the support of Johnson and the late President John F. Kennedy for the bill and called it a solidly bipartisan measure which Republicans on the Judiciary Committee helped draft.

He said opponents could only delay but not block passage of the bill in the House. A strong majority of the Rules Committee is on record as supporting the bill but Smith is expected to run the hearings for about two weeks, giving Southern opponents a chance to get on record against it.

Without ME YOU can do NOTHING

—so the vine said to the branches. Separated from the vine the branch became dead wood. We boast of our strength and the part we play but oh, how dependent on God we really are.

The physical body must have goods we cannot get except they come from God... air, food, water, companionship and even wealth. It is all part of a living universe. By itself all of this would be dead wood.

The Christian without Christ becomes fruitless... dead.

The human is nothing apart from the divine. God not only created life, He also sustains it. Our health, strength, success are all God's gift.

Better stop Mister, long enough to give Him credit.

Without Him we can do nothing.
